Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The Memorial Baptist Church has reached a peak membership. It is 500 now. When Bro. Thacker arrived on the scene the church had 348 members.

The Methodist Church sold their parsonage at the corner of Olive and North Fourth.

The new home for the pastor is the beautiful Noy Ryan Hughes home on North 10th street.

Thanks to Mrs. O. C. Wells for the good plants. The plants are about six inches high. We put them out right away and with the weather we have today, they'll never know they've been moved.

These are ornamental guards and we look forward to seeing them grow.

We went out several years ago and dug up some chigger weed which grows along the highway. You can see it along most any highway or road around the county.

Chigger weed is that brilliant orange plant made up of several spikes each topped with the flower. You can see it along most any highway or road around the county.

Weed or no weed, it's good to look at.

Consider yourself fortunate if you are in good health, can walk and perform normal physical movements with ease, can see well, can hear well, can talk well and have a generally good outlook on life.

We take these things for granted, when we should not.

Congratulations to Miss Judy Harp for winning her fellowship in UT. Those long hours of studying have paid off for her.

Fortunate is the young person who can see further ahead than Saturday night.

Mrs. Claude Anderson is active in civic affairs.

Mr. Brausa, over at the harness shop is a real craftsman.

Flattery is the art of telling a person exactly what he thinks of himself.

Almost through with a book entitled "Clepsidra".

We don't care too much for political jokes. Sometimes they get elected.

Lady (wearing mink ranch) "How many skins do you get from each animal?" Farmer "Only one, lady. If we skin 'em twice it makes them nervous".

"What happened to that dopey blood your husband used to run around with." "I dyed my hair".

Bethel Richardson is out of the hospital. He's been laid up for the past month.

Looks like the Democrats in Kentucky can't get together for staying apart.

Mrs. Virgil Kentel of Murray wrote four verses in to tell us a snake and cat story. She and her husband were going out to the dairy barn with the mama Angora and two kittens trailing along when they saw a greenish snake. It had something in its mouth.

All of a sudden mama cat jumped on the snake and here they went just a fighting and a scratching clear out into deep grass and the mama cat came out with whatever the snake had in the first place. She proudly brought it to her two kittens. The snake got away so Mrs. Kentel reports that this may not be the end of this snake story.

State GOP Split Over Barry Goldwater And Gov. Scranton

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A barbed exchange of telegrams between U.S. Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and a northern Kentucky Republican pointed out the fact today that the state's delegation to the GOP national convention is sharply divided over Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The exchange between Cooper and Alex Parker of Mayville, who will be a member of the delegation which Cooper heads, came on the eve of Gov. William Scranton's visit here Friday in a search for delegate votes.

Parker, one of an estimated 8 to 10 strong Goldwater supporters among the 24 Kentucky delegates, in his telegram to Cooper complained that the senator was embarrassing Kentucky Republicans by his outspoken preference for Scranton over Goldwater.

The Mayville Republican accused Cooper of following the line of the liberal Americans for Democratic Action ADA in 88 per cent of his Senate votes.

Parker said that Cooper was "unrepresentative of the Republican party in Kentucky," despite his position as head of the delegation.

Cooper replied in a telegram to Parker that he was for Scranton because he believes the Pennsylvania governor has a better chance of winning in November than does Senator Goldwater.

Cooper went on to say that his own policies follow in the tradition of Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Robert A. Taft and Dwight Eisenhower, policies which he said, "have made our party responsible and have contributed to our country's greatness."

The Kentucky senator repeated that he will be here in Louisville Friday to greet Scranton and help him in his search for votes in the state's delegation.

Cooper also reminded Parker that he had helped him in his unsuccessful campaign against Democratic U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins in 1962, at Parker's request. Cooper in that campaign several times appeared with Parker on speaking platforms, although their viewpoints were far apart.

Republican leaders in Kentucky, including state Central Executive Committee Chairman Ted Hardwick of Lexington, have indicated that Sen. Goldwater appears to have at least eight solid supporters in the state's delegation, and about eight more who tend to favor him. Cooper and possibly four others are believed to favor Scranton.

The entire delegation would of course go solidly for Sen. Thorton B. Morton of Kentucky should his name go before the convention.

Other governors elected were: Dr. Ellis M. Day, Whitesville, 43-K; Hugh Yancy, Mayslick, 43-N; and Danny L. Brown, 43-N.

Mr. Day replaces Joe Pat James, retiring District Governor.

Attending the meeting at Henderson from Murray were Mr. and Mrs. Rob Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat James. Ray is the incoming president of the Murray Club.

They attended the dinner and ball Monday night for the outgoing District Governors. Finis Davis, past International President introduced the speaker at the dinner, Claude DeVorse of Wichita, Kansas, as the incoming president of Lions International.

The Lions also named four men to the board of directors of the Kentucky Eye Foundation.

Hopkinsville was selected as the site for the 1965 convention of the Kentucky Lions.

Winners of events in Wednesday's Ladies' Day Golf at the Calloway Country Club were: Vanda Sexton, medalist; Elsie Duguid, low putt; Reba Overby, poker hand; Billy Cohoon, most golf.

Marge Kipp was chairman of events yesterday.

Cartwheels OK'd By U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday approved the minting of 45 million new silver dollars less the famed "cartwheel" slip into oblivion.

The committee action was aimed at replenishing the Treasury's stock of silver dollars which was exhausted this year. The Treasury was forced to reduce silver certificates with silver crystals.

The committee approved $600,000 for the minting of the new cartwheels as part of a $6.2 billion Treasury-Post Office appropriations bill.

The House refused to appropriate funds for minting of silver dollars. It said the shortage of small coins was much more critical.

The senate committee concurred with the House in approving $16 million for construction of a new mint in Philadelphia.

Lakes Will Begin Annual Fluctuation

The annual fluctuation of Tennessee River reservoirs for mosquito control began this week, TVA reported today. Water levels will be raised and lowered about one foot each week until early autumn, in all mainstream reservoirs except Kentucky. Fluctuating the water level in Kentucky Lake is impractical because it is so large, and other control measures are used there.

Water level management is the most effective single measure TVA uses for the control of mosquitoes, including the malaria-carrying species. This involves four steps, two of them already completed for this year.

The first step was to raise the lakes briefly to unusually high levels late last winter, followed by a rapid drop to summer levels to strand the winter accumulation of floating material up on the shorelines.

The second step was maintaining the normal maximum lake levels during the spring growing period to retard plants that grow in shallow water near the shore and create mosquito breeding conditions.

The third step, under way now, is the weekly fluctuation of lake levels to kill mosquito larvae by stranding them on shore or exposing them to natural enemies such as top minnows.

The fourth and final step in TVA's annual water level management for mosquito control will come during the peak of the breeding season in late summer and early fall. At that time the fluctuation will be combined in certain reservoirs with a gradual drop or recession in lake levels, to ensure control of mosquito larvae.

Faxon Clinic Will Be Held On Tuesday

There will be a preschool clinic for children entering the first grade at Faxon Elementary School at the Health Center on Tuesday, June 23, starting at 1:00 a.m. Parents are asked to not come later than 2:30 p.m. to this clinic as each child needs to register and have necessary papers filled out before the doctor examines the child. Parents should also bring a list of any shots the child has had to be put on the school health record.

This will be the only clinic for Faxon school and if parents do not bring their child at this time they should take the child to their private physician before school opens in August. Each child will be required to have a physical examination and an immunization certificate required by law before enrolling in schools.

Witnesses said he slipped under "without a sound" and never came up. One woman said, "They thought he was kidding at first and then when he didn't come up they got scared. Some of the kids tried diving for him but they couldn't find him."

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams of Cleveland, who were staying at the resort with their five children.

Coast Guard units, the Paris rescue squad and units from here searched.

Local Veterans Of Korean War Are Aided By Bill

NEW YORK, June 15 — Of the 518 veterans of the Korean War who are now living in Calloway County, approximately four out of every ten have received educational or vocational training under the Korean GI Bill, it appears.

Of these, more than half have gone to college. The others went to schools below collegiate level or received on-the-job or on-the-farm training.

The findings are based on studies made on a national scale by the Veterans Administration and by the N.Y. State Division of Veterans Affairs.

They report that the program is still open and that Korean veterans may still enroll. Eligible are all those who were in uniform for a period of 90 days between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955, whether they were sent overseas or not.

The latter date is when the Korean War, designated the Korean conflict, officially ended, according to Congressional decree, although the actual shooting was over more than two years before that time.

The surveys indicate that an estimated 210 Korean vets in Calloway County have made use of the free educational opportunities thus far. Some 115 of them went to college.

While the other Korean veterans in Calloway County may still register for such training, a limitation has been placed on the duration of the educational program. Courses

Young Boy Drowns At Bass Bay Resort

CAMDEN, Tenn. (AP) — Dennis Roney, 16, of Cleveland, Ohio, drowned today while swimming at Bass Bay resort in the Danville Bridge area of Kentucky Lake near here.

Dragging operations began almost immediately for the body of the youth who was swimming with two of his brothers and several other youngsters in about 15 feet of water.

Witnesses said he slipped under "without a sound" and never came up. One woman said, "They thought he was kidding at first and then when he didn't come up they got scared. Some of the kids tried diving for him but they couldn't find him."

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams of Cleveland, who were staying at the resort with their five children.

Coast Guard units, the Paris rescue squad and units from here searched.

will be discontinued after January 31, 1965, according to a decision of Congress.

Nationally, the figures show, of the 5,000,000 living veterans of the Korean War, 2,358,000 have gone to school under the GI Bill.

The education and training provided for them and for the veterans of other wars is termed by the Veterans Administration "the greatest mass educational program ever undertaken in the free world."

It has helped to raise the scholastic level of veterans in the United States to better than four years of high school, whereas the level of non-veteran males is but two years of high school.

Calloway County's veteran population, which also includes 336 from World War I and 1,306 from World War II, has received its proportional share of these benefits.

Children Look On As Parents Die

FULTON, Ky. (AP) — While his two children looked on in horror, a disabled World War II veteran fatally shot his wife here Wednesday, then killed himself.

The victims of the murder-suicide were Ollie Corder, 41, and his wife, Velma, 40, of Moscow, Ky.

The shootings took place in the family car being driven by Mrs. Corder on a road near the Tennessee state line.

The couple's children — 14-year-old Linda and 9-year-old Virgil — were in the back seat of the car. Linda told Sheriff Joe Campbell that there was no argument preceding the shootings.

She said her father suddenly warned her mother that he was going to kill her. With that, he pulled a .22 caliber pistol from his pocket and shot his wife.

Then he pointed the pistol at his head and fired one shot.

Lou Donelson, 73, died suddenly from a heart attack on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. He died in route to the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

He was a retired farmer, but had worked previously at the Edgelyville State Prison as a guard for seven years.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Myrtle Evans Donelson of Route 6, Murray; two sons Buell of Long Beach, California and Lester of Route 6, Murray; two sisters Mrs. Roseet Duncan of Route 6, Murray and Mrs. Lela Edridge of Route 1, Almo; two brothers Ed of Route 6, Murray and And of Route 6, Murray. Eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

He was a member of Russell's Chapel Methodist Church and Murray Lodge 105 F & AM.

The funeral will be in the Max Churchill Funeral Chapel at 2 p. m. Sunday with Rev. Joe Walker officiating. Burial will be in the Possett Cemetery, Masonic Rites will be held at the grave.

Friends may call at the Max Churchill Funeral Chapel.

Encouragement Of Religion Back-fires

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International
Would America's children be more likely to grow up believing in God if the government officially encouraged religious faith through schools and other public institutions?

Many people seem to think so. This has been one of the principal arguments advanced by proponents of constitutional amendments to authorize prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

But one of the nation's leading church historians, Dr. Franklin H. Littell, says the lesson of history points in exactly the opposite direction.

Wherever and whenever government has tried to foster religious belief, says Littell, the net result has been to drive people away from the church.

Cites Other Nations
Littell is professor of church history at Chicago Theological Seminary. In an interview, he cited the experience of Western European nations and Colonial America with "established" or state-supported religion.

"In France, a traditionally Catholic people has become a prime example of 'baptized heathenism,'" he said. Surveys indicate that only 16 per cent of the men and women of France keep the minimum requirements of the Catholic Church for avoiding automatic excommunication: one confession and one communion a year.

"In Italy, a survey authorized by the cardinal archbishop of Milan showed only 11 per cent of Italian men performing the same minimal exercises.

"In the Protestant north, the case is no better. Of the people of Sweden, 98 per cent are reckoned as communicants of the Lutheran state church; the situation in Denmark is roughly the same. Behind the facade, however, official surveys show that only 3.6 per cent of the Swedes and 3.4 per cent of the Danes are actually in effective relationship with the state churches to which they theoretically belong."

Same In Colonies
In England, the established church estimates that no more than 15 per cent of its nominal membership is actually involved in church life in any way.

Colonial America had an equally dismal record, Littell said. Of the 13 Colonies, only Rhode Island practiced genuine religious freedom. Eight of the Colonies had state churches and four others had established religions.

"Like the European state churches, the Colonial state churches achieved the spiritual alienation of the people," he said. At the time of the Revolution, less than 10 per cent of the American people were actively affiliated with churches.

ROSS MACDONALD'S THE Chill

THE NEW NOVEL BY JIM HENRICH, WRITTEN BY ROSS MACDONALD, PUBLISHED BY THE PULP PRESS, NEW YORK, N.Y.

CHAPTER 27

THERE were more tears than one in Dolly Kincaid's eyes now. Tears for the child she had been, frightened and lying and tears for the woman she was painfully becoming. Her husband wiped her eyes. He looked close to tears himself. "Why, I said, 'did you try to tell us that you killed your mother?'"

"Who are you?" Dolly said. "I'm Alex's friend Lew Archer."

"That's right," Alex said. She lifted her head and let it fall back. "I forgot what you asked me."

"Why did you say you killed your mother?"

"Because it was all my fault. I told my Daddy about her and Mr. Bradshaw, and that's what started everything."

"How do you know?"

"The lady at the door said so. She came to shoot Mommy because of what Daddy told her."

"Do you know who she was?"

"No."

"Was it your Aunt Alice?"

"No."

"Was it anyone you knew?"

"That's right," Alex said. He helped her up to a sitting position. She leaned on him, her hair mantling his shoulder. A few minutes later, still leaning on him, she walked across the hallway to her room. They walked like husband and wife. Godwin closed the door of the examination room. "I hope you gentlemen got what you wanted," he said with some distaste.

"She talked very freely," Jerry Marks said. The experience had left him drained.

"It was no accident. I've been preparing her for the last three days. Pentothal, as I've told you before, is no guarantee of truth. If a patient is determined to lie, the drug can't stop him."

"Are you implying she wasn't telling the truth?"

"No, I believe she was, so far, as she knows the truth. My problem now is to enhance her awareness and make it fully conscious. If you gentlemen will excuse me?"

"Wait a minute," I said. "You can spare me a minute, doctor. Godwin closed the door of the examination room. 'I hope you gentlemen got what you wanted,' he said with some distaste."

Dear Abby . . .

IT SHOULD NEVER HAPPEN!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last night I received a call from the mother of a 15-year-old girl. She said our 14-year-old son gave her daughter a black eye and a split lip. I was shocked and told my husband, who then gave our son a good beating. I have seen the girl, and she is a good six inches taller than our son and at least 30 pounds heavier, so it was not a very fair match. Our boy said this girl started calling him names and, when he ignored her, she started hitting and kicking him. He said he didn't want to fight her, but he wasn't going to stand there and let her beat him up, so he hit her in self-defense. Do you think our boy was wrong? What was he supposed to do?

MR. M.
DEAR MRS. M.: Under NO circumstances should a boy ever hit a girl. Being 30 pounds lighter, he could have easily left her a half a block behind.

DEAR ABBY: My husband got a Mexican divorce four months ago, or at least he claims he did. He has now remarried and is living in California. I did not sign any divorce papers. In fact, I didn't even see any. I didn't have a lawyer represent me in Mexico and I have it on good authority that my husband was never in Mexico. He got this divorce by proxy or something like that. Is he legally divorced from me? And if he isn't, how can he be legally married to somebody else? Am I a bigamist?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: If your husband married another woman while he was still legally married to you, HE is the bigamist, not YOU. See a lawyer and find out where you stand.

DEAR ABBY: Why do people think they are doing a friend a favor when they go in gangs to visit them in a hospital? My sister recently had a baby and six of her friends came at exactly two P.M. and they stayed the full two-hour visiting time. When more came, nobody left—they just crowded in, sitting all over the bed and the window sill. They laughed and talked among themselves and made a regular party out of it. When nighttime came, my poor sister was so exhausted she had to have a hypo to put her to sleep. Whose fault is this? I say the nurses should not allow visitors to wear the patients out.

DEAR BURNED: Nurses cannot police every room. Most hospitals have rules limiting the number of visitors each patient may have, and how long they may stay. Furthermore, surely a friend would not take offense if the patient, on becoming tired, frankly told her guests she wanted to nap a bit.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R. F. J.

Living need not cost you any more today than it did 40 years ago. That is, if you don't mind living like they did 40 years ago.

SELL PUBLIC SPACE

WASHINGTON 17P — Dr. Edward C. Welsh, executive secretary of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, Wednesday night urged private industry to make greater efforts to sell Congress and the public on the space program.

Industry is not now "carrying its share of this part of the space job," said Welsh. "It should not be possible for anyone to take seriously the public distrusts against the national space program."

Two Can Measure Progress By How They Stood Last Year

By FRED DOWN

Wally Bunker and Bo Belinsky can measure the future today reflecting on where they stood a year ago.

The pink-cheeked Bunker had just signed a $70,000 bonus contract after his graduation from Capuchino High School in San Bruno, Calif., and looked forward to the prospect of making one trip with the Baltimore Orioles before being farmed to a minor league club.

Playboy Bo, meanwhile, had just been handed a ticket to the minors by the Los Angeles Angels and was about to be handed his walking papers by actress Mamie Van Doren.

Both the eager, All-American boy and the one-time king of big league night life must have noted how far a determined athlete can go in one year. Wednesday night when Bunker pitched the Orioles into first place in the American League and Belinsky doubled his 1963 victory output for the Los Angeles Angels.

Post 6-1 Victory

Bunker's effort was a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox while Belinsky was the winning pitcher in the Angels' 5-3 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Bunker, the AL's early candidate for rookie of the year honors, pitched a six-hitter, walked three and struck out five in raising his record to 7-2. He was supported by a 10-hit attack that included homers by Jackie Brandt and Sam Bowens. The only run scored by the White Sox came on a fifth-inning homer by Gene Stephens.

The victory put the Orioles one full game ahead of the White Sox and a game and a half in front of the third-place New York Yankees. Belinsky, who's trying so hard this year that his halo is pinching, went 7 1-3 innings to register his fourth win against three losses—a tidy mark indeed, when compared with his 2-9 record for the entire 1963 campaign.

Temporary Lead

Don Lock's two-run homer gave the Senators a temporary one-run lead over Bo but Ed Kirkpatrick's double was the big blow of a two-run Angel rally in the sixth that put Los Angeles ahead. Relievers Bob Lee and Bob Duvall protected Belinsky's triumph in the last 1-23 innings.

The Boston Red Sox nipped the Yankees, 4-3, in 12 innings, the Cleveland Indians swept the Minnesota Twins, 3-2 and 5-0, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Kansas City Athletics, 3-2, in 10 innings in other AL games.

In the National League, Chicago defeated Philadelphia, 9-5. San Francisco edged Cincinnati, 3-2. Pittsburgh nipped New York, 3-2. St. Louis topped Houston, 2-1, and Los Angeles shut out Milwaukee, 9-0.

Nixon Comes Through
Pinchhitter Russ Nixon's single won two out in the 12th inning and home Lee Thomas with the run that gave Boston's Dick Radatz his fifth win against three losses. Starting pitcher Earl Wilson and rookie Tony Conigliaro homered for the Red Sox, who dealt relief pitcher Ralph Terry his sixth setback. Mickey Maize hit his 12th homer for the Yankees.

Max Alvis's ninth-inning homer enabled the Indians to win their opening and tag Minnesota ace Camilo Pascual with his third loss against nine wins. Alvis also homered in the nightcap as Pedro Ramos squared off to gain the victory and bring his record to 4-4 with a seven-hitter spaced with six strikeouts.

Dick McAuliffe's 10th-inning single brought in the run that gave Detroit's Terry Fox his first win of the season and dealt Kansas City's John Wyatt his fourth loss. The Athletics had scored the tying run off Dave Wickersham when Nelson Mathews homered in the eighth inning.

No. 400 First steps of Hiram Ulysses Grant, the man best known in history as Ulysses Simpson Grant, after his appointment in March 1864 to over-all command of the Union armies, with the newly-revived rank of lieutenant general, were portentous. One was to take counsel of his most trusted and dependable commander in the Army of the Mississippi, whom he had determined to make the new high commander in the West. They met at Nashville and rode to Cincinnati together.

There had to be stronger co-ordination of the operations of military forces strung irregularly, and often at conflicting purposes, through the Rebel states—the armies now led by George Meade in Virginia; of J. M. Schofield, near Knoxville; of G. H. Thomas, near Chattanooga; of J. B. McPherson, scattered from Huntsville, Ala., to the Mississippi; of N. B. Banks, in Louisiana—besides subordinate detachments, under Steele and others, in Arkansas and farther west.

Grant swiftly consolidated all forces into three commands. He gave to Banks the tasks beyond the Mississippi; Sherman was assigned the middle of the long line, with the armies of McPherson, Schofield and Thomas under him. Grant kept up responsibility for the remainder, the acute line of battle in Virginia.

For the reduction of a complex problem, his orders were simple: Break and keep broken the connecting links of the enemy armies; beat them one by one; unite in a final consummation.

Sherman expressed to Grant his "infinite satisfaction." He regarded it as "enlightened war," this "verging on a common center."

—CLARK KINNAIRD

With a decision to make, and counsel taken from his officers, Grant has squatted down under a tree to whittle and think it out—a rough on-the-spot sketch of the general which the artist furnished in detail for an illustrated weekly.

Koufax Decided To Stick Around And Dodgers Glad

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

And to think the Los Angeles Dodgers quibbled with Sandy Koufax over his contract.

They even suggested that he start thinking about going into some other line of business when he didn't rush to terms last spring but Koufax thought it over and decided to stick around.

That decision could turn out to be the luckiest thing that ever happened to the Dodgers.

Koufax, as the tailplayers say, is just too much.

He has not given up a run of any kind in two weeks now and he pitched his third shutout in his last four starts Wednesday night when he blanked the Milwaukee Braves, 5-0, for his fifth straight victory.

Struck Out Eight

Sandy held the Braves to three singles and struck out eight to regain the National League strikeout leadership with a total of 100.

His season record stands at 9-4 compared to the 10-3 record he boasted exactly one year ago when he went on to win 25 games and win virtually every pitching honor bestowed in baseball.

The Dodgers supplied him with a run in the third inning Wednesday night, then drove loser Denny Lemaster to cover with a four-run rally in the fourth that was touched off by rookie Derrell Griffith's first major league homer.

The loss was Lemaster's fourth in 11 decisions while the victory boosted the Dodgers into a fifth-place tie with the Braves and Cubs.

Other NL Action

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants climbed within seven percentage points of first place with a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds while the Cubs knocked off the first-place Philadelphia Phillies, 9-5. The Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the New York Mets, 3-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals shaded the Houston Astros, 2-1.

In the American League, the Baltimore Orioles took over first place with a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees, 4-3, in 12 innings, the Cleveland Indians swept a pair from the Minnesota Twins, 3-2, and 5-0, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Kansas City A's, 3-2, in 10 innings, and the Los Angeles Angels downed the Washington Senators, 5-3.

Pinchhitter Willie McCovey's two-run homer in the ninth inning off Joe Nuxhall decided matters between the Giants and Reds. Willie Mays provided the Giants with their first run when he belted his 19th homer in the opening inning and Nuxhall homered in the fifth to tie the score. Gaylord Perry scored his fourth victory after relieving Bob Bolin in the ninth.

Williams Raises Average

Billy Williams of the Cubs beat the Phillies almost single-handedly by driving in five runs with his 16th and 17th homers plus a triple to raise his batting average to .382. Ron Santo also homered for the Cubs while Bobby Wine connected for the Phils. Bob Buhl 3-3 was the winner and Jack Balderson 3-5 the loser.

Bob Friend beat the Mets for the 11th straight time without ever losing to them as he scattered eight hits for his fifth victory of the season. Willie Stargrett's two-run homer off loser Tracy Stallard highlighted a three-run first-inning rally by Pittsburgh.

Controlled Slowness In Flight Sought

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Engineers are striving to introduce a little controlled slowness into space flight.

WALLIS DRUGS

They want to do this in the interests of safety, economy and dignity. Spacecraft rocket into the sky at speeds of about 18,000 to 25,000 miles an hour, depending on whether they are going into orbit around the earth or to the moon or beyond. Those that come back reenter the earth's atmosphere at the same speeds at which they left it. It is at this point that the engineers would like to change the way returning spacecraft have operated so far.

What they would like to do is to make a craft shaped for high speed flight conduct itself coming home as though it were shaped for gliding to a low speed landing.

Engineers Hopeful

This is almost as difficult as it sounds. But engineers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA believe they may be able to bring it off.

All spacecraft, recovered thus far have been lowered to the earth's surface by parachute. This worked well enough for the Mercury man-in-orbit program. It is the method which will be used to land the Apollo spacecraft after voyages to the moon. But a parachute descent is essentially uncontrolled and it is, moreover, an undignified way to come back from an outing on the moon or some asteroid. It is more possible to shape spacecraft of the or less like having to swim ashore from a liner after an ocean cruise. Spacecraft, like the Mercury capsule and its successors don't have enough of what the aeronautical experts call "lift" to glide home to a gentle landing the way aircraft do.

Seek Glider Effect

But engineers believe it may be future in such a way that they can function like bullets leaving the earth and like gliders returning. Most people probably think of a "lifting body" as looking something like a regulation winged airplane. It is possible, however, to make one in which the "wings" have been so modified that the overall structure resembles a sort of fat-bellied triangular bug.

NASA has done some landing experiments with such a bug, known as the M-2. With a pilot aboard, the M-2 is towed to a high altitude by an airplane and they cut loose. There is something comical about the way the M-2 waddles to a landing on an airstrip. Pilots watching a film of the event invariably chuckle. But the thing gets down in one piece and seems to offer considerable promise for the future.

American Men Are The Shavingest

By C. J. FARNOW
United Press International
NEW YORK (AP) — American men are the shavingest men in the world—they spend $125 million a year for blades and razors alone—but they used to do it in dreary, sleep-eyed solitude and forget about it. Now they talk about it.

Not since Alexander the Great decreed that all his men should be clean-shaven so enemy warriors could not grab them by their beards has the business of shaving produced so much conversation. "How many shaves do you get to the blade?" is the question that has given the game its name. Thanks to the advent of the stainless steel razor blade, more men than ever are playing it.

What may come as a surprise to some of the players is that it is not the "sharpness" of the stainless steel blade that has spurred the game on but the coating on the steel that gives the blades their long life and smooth shaving properties. As a result, the international razor blade war is flaring into new activity.

The war opened in 1962 when Wilkinson, an English firm, took over a big share of the United States market. It spread when the Gillette Company, biggest U. S. firm in the business, counter invaded the United Kingdom blade field.

The Gillette Company notes it holds a key patent for a process used in the making of the stainless steel blades and says that Wilkinson has acknowledged validity of the patent and is paying "substantial" royalty payments on it.

But Gillette still faces a battle at home to regain its share of the U. S. market lost when the Wilkinson stainless steel blades, with

Mimsy Loses Job But Will Get Another

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mimsy Farmer lost her job at the candy counter of a Hollywood theater recently when she took time off to play an important role in a new movie.

Now she's unemployed.

But Mimsy, 19 and beautiful, usherette, she explained. "But after we don't worry. Chances are good six months they promoted me to she will become a star. The reason? She brings a new dimension to the screen — genuine innocence.

Not since Shirley Temple was a child star has Hollywood seen such rampant naivete. Mimsy is shy and full of blushes off-screen with a penchant for bringing out the paternal instinct in hard-eyed producers who didn't know such instincts existed.

During lunch at Universal, where she recently completed "Bus Riley's Back in Town," the blonde, hazel-eyed lovely expressed doubts that she would ever return to selling candy in a theater again.

Was Usherette

"Actually, I started out as an usherette," she explained. "But after we don't worry. Chances are good six months they promoted me to the candy counter."

The rise was important. Mimsy's salary jumped from $44 a week to $53, and all the candy she could eat, if, of course, she could prove that the wrappers had been broken in transit.

"It was a very boring job," she said. "Mostly because the entire eight months that I had the job the same picture was playing, 'How The West Was Won.' I must have seen it a hundred times.

There are some funny things you notice about a movie after seeing it that often. For instance, I began noticing little flaws like telephone poles in cattle drives. And in a river sequence they had Debbie Reynolds almost drowning. But the effect was ruined because the stuntman had a tattoo on his arm. Things like that."

Made Choice

She took the job after her first acting role in "Spencer's Mountain" and managed to take days off to work in television shows. But when the big part in "Bus Riley" turned up she had to choose between selling candy and an acting career. There wasn't much choice.

An appealing girl, Mimsy appears to be light years younger than, say, Tuesday Weld or Sandra Dee. One worries how such an innocent will navigate the turbulent Hollywood mill-race.

Her name, Mimsy, was given her by her mother who plucked it from a nonsense poem in "Alice in Wonderland."

this: The telephone rings. A willowy blonde dashes from the shower. She picks up the phone.

"Smile," the voice at the other end says. "You're on Picturephone."

The blonde disappears from view in a dead faint.

Wacky? Silly? Impossible? Not at all. For the telephone of the future, equipped with television camera and screen, so you can see the person you are talking to, is here. It has been dubbed "Picturephone" by its creator, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

First Showing

Actually, the television telephone has been around since at least 1927. That was when the first public demonstration was made in the United States of the transmission of television over telephone lines. But the problem then was that it took a room full of equipment to power the gadget. The 1964 version is about the size of a typewriter.

Picturephone was first demonstrated April 20 at the Bell System's exhibit at the New York World's Fair in a call to Disneyland in California.

Plans Three Locations

If the system is approved by the Federal Communications Commission, the Bell System plans to inaugurate Picturephone in mid-June at public locations in Washington, New York City and Chicago.

In Washington it will be in the HATS ARE appearing for late spring and summer in all the most fashionable shapes. Synthetic straw hats are just three out of a wide variety of silhouettes made of a new synthetic straw that is ideal for travel.

The fake straw is really a yarn imported from Switzerland which has all the feel and look of the real thing. But it has the added advantage of being lightweight, comfortable and impossible to crush or bend out of its original fashionable contours.

They saw the hottest line of cars in America... the "Car of the Year" Award winners... the best-built Fords ever. They saw cars so smartly styled, so easy to handle, so good to drive, that they made this the best sales year in Ford Division history even before the Mustang came out. They saw America's leading performance car—the Super Torque Ford (hardtop sales up 54%). They saw America's most famous personal luxury car—Thunderbird—with sales up 68% over last year's record. They found out why Falcon almost outsells Chevy II and Valiant combined. And why Fairlane is a pace-setter in its own field. One look can make you fall in love with any one of Ford's 46 models. You Have To Read Between Actor's Lines

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Never, never take an actor's words at face value. With a little effort his real meaning can be determined by a simple process of show his translation. For instance, when a screen hero describes his new role playing a heavy as "a challenge," he means he can't land a leading man part.

Or if the fading glamor girl says, "sex appeal is in the eyes," it translates that her figure ain't what it used to be.

"It's going to be a friendly divorce," is easily translated to mean "we're both got so much scandal going for us we can't open our mouths."

Show Canceled
Then there's the video comedian whose show is canceled. He cries, "you can't get good scripts every week." Translation: "the sponsor's wife digs Ben Casey."

The star returning from a year's unemployment in Rome says, "Hollywood is still the film capital." What he means is he can't find a job in Hollywood, Rome, Paris, Berlin, London or Montambique.

In New York the stage star bleats, "Hollywood is a wasteland." Translation: "I just lost a movie part to Rock Hudson."

And when the director says, "she's another Garbo," he means the beautiful new Swede in town was born Helga Garbo and had to change her name.

"Movies are a great art form," says the two-bit movie producer. What he means is if nude statues fill the Louvre, maybe his quickie peep-show will be called art too.

"I'm taking this role because I'm tired of being type-cast," says the Western star in the Biblical epic. Translation: He's too old to ride a charging horse into a scene full of Indians.

Drama Excuse
"I always wanted to be a doctor," the comedian says. He means, "gotta try something. They quit laughing at my jokes 10 years ago."

"They don't make women's pictures anymore," says the unemployed actress. What she really means is "They make women's films for Doris Day, Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn, but they'll never last."

When an actor refers to himself as an "artist," it is only because modesty prevents him from calling himself a "great artist."

"I'd never pose for chiseled," says the starlet. The truth is her measurements are 33-33-33.

And when a cuddlesome pair of lovers tell the press "we're just friends," odds are they've been secretly married for six months.

Many people have favorite scriptures... these words can excite and satisfy

CHURCH
SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EX-"TARZAN" HAS TROUBLES—Johnny Weissmuller, film's "Tarzan" three decades back, sits in court in Los Angeles to defend himself against a demand for more than $11,000 by the widow of his onetime agent. A court ordered him to pay $9,833 in 1961, and attorneys say the amount now exceeds $11,000. Weissmuller testified he has a take-home pay of $157.50 a week and monthly expenses of $833. The hearing for the lifetime swimming great was continued to July 9.

THEY GREW HAIR

They gave only 20 minutes of their time for a free consultation. Why don't you? They did not have pattern baldness.

Will Be In Mayfield, Kentucky
Tomorrow, Friday, Only

Results guaranteed by the Ebb organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis. Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of hair loss, and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Ebb method nor any other method is effective, and the Ebb method will not help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss. If your scalp is still creating hair and you have dandruff, or excessive hair fall, or excessive oiliness, dryness, or itchy scalp, you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do. Many have reported satisfaction from the Ebb Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? It costs you nothing to come in and learn how many people have been helped by the years of Ebb experience. Why not take advantage of this wonderful opportunity for help? Just go to the Erwins Motel in Mayfield, Kentucky, on Friday, June 19, 1964 only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for J. L. Thomas. Consultations are given in private. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way.
